

FEAST OF SACRED RICE OFFERED TO ANCESTORS

Emperor Yoshihito, Alone and Unseen, Performs Solemn Ceremonial at Kyoto.

CHIEF RITE OF CORONATION
In Primitive Huts of Thatch and Reed, and Preceded by Many Preliminaries, Japanese Ruler Observes Thanksgiving Festival.

KYOTO, November 14.—To-night, alone, unseen and unheard, in primitive huts of thatch and reed, Emperor Yoshihito offered a feast of sacred rice to the spirits of his ancestors and to the deities of heaven and earth and then himself partook of the sacred food. Many Japanese regard this ceremony as the culminating and chief rite of all, since through it the Emperor receives the confirmation of his hereditary right to deification.

All activities in the empire were suspended, and the day was observed as a holy one. The people for the most part remained within their houses praying. The festival was strictly limited to Japanese.

In Japanese the ceremony is called "Daigoji," which translated implies, "Grand Harvest, or Thanksgiving Festival." The ceremony proper was preceded by many preliminaries, including that of yesterday, when prayers were offered for the longevity of the imperial house, and the sending this morning of imperial messengers to each of the 172 shrines throughout the empire to notify the spirits of the imperial ancestors that the grand harvest festival was about to begin.

Still another preliminary held in the morning was the offering of food before the imperial sanctuary in the Shunkoden hall of the Kyoto palace. A chamberlain and a maid of honor represented the Emperor and Empress in ancient costume.

Prior, also, to the festival proper was held a ceremonial dedicated to inviting the spirits of the deities of Heaven and Earth, consisting of picked officers and men from the bodyguard, who were arrayed outside the main gates of the shrines. A score of coronation officials proceeded to the torii or shrine gates at the four sides of the grounds and took their posts as the guard of honor. They wore the elegant ceremonial dress of ancient courtiers. It consisted of a short robe of light blue color, an unlined garment, a loose tunic with a long train, a sleeveless undergarment, a pair of inner trousers, a pair of outer trousers and a jeweled belt, a sword with a broad guard, the quiver with arrows, a bow, a pair of shallow shoes, and a consecrated surplice. On their heads the guards wore a coronet with a pendant of silk gauze coiled at the back. A dozen officials in similar costume took their posts on the right and left of the torii, completing a fascinating picture of ancient Japan.

WEAR CEREMONIAL DRESS OF ANCIENT COURTIER

The crown prince, princes and princesses of the blood and other members of the imperial family then entered the pavilion temporarily built for their reception. Presently the Emperor came in, followed by his retinue. The guard of honor, consisting of picked officers and men from the bodyguard, who were arrayed outside the main gates of the shrines. A score of coronation officials proceeded to the torii or shrine gates at the four sides of the grounds and took their posts as the guard of honor. They wore the elegant ceremonial dress of ancient courtiers. It consisted of a short robe of light blue color, an unlined garment, a loose tunic with a long train, a sleeveless undergarment, a pair of inner trousers, a pair of outer trousers and a jeweled belt, a sword with a broad guard, the quiver with arrows, a bow, a pair of shallow shoes, and a consecrated surplice. On their heads the guards wore a coronet with a pendant of silk gauze coiled at the back. A dozen officials in similar costume took their posts on the right and left of the torii, completing a fascinating picture of ancient Japan.

On a stool were placed sacred shoes of pure gold brocade and bedding with sacred clothes of pure gold, raw silk thread. On each eight-legged table were bamboo baskets containing the sacred vestments of silk and cotton. Ritualists then proceeded to the two shrines of Heaven and Earth and prepared the seats for the reception of the respective groups of spirits. The seats were arranged on the top of an elevated throne in the innermost section of the shrines, each being covered with a white matting bordered with pure white hemp cloth.

SACRED LAMPS LIGHTED AT CORNERS OF SHRINES

Now twilight had come and sacred lamps, one of white, the other of black, were lighted at the corners of the shrines while a sacred fire blazed at the southern gate. Advancing slowly, the Emperor, attended by his suite, made his entry into the "hall of bathing." Courtiers carrying lighted torches led the procession. The dancing flames, the noiseless advance over silent corridors, the hush of the spectators—all contributed to a scene that was profoundly impressive.

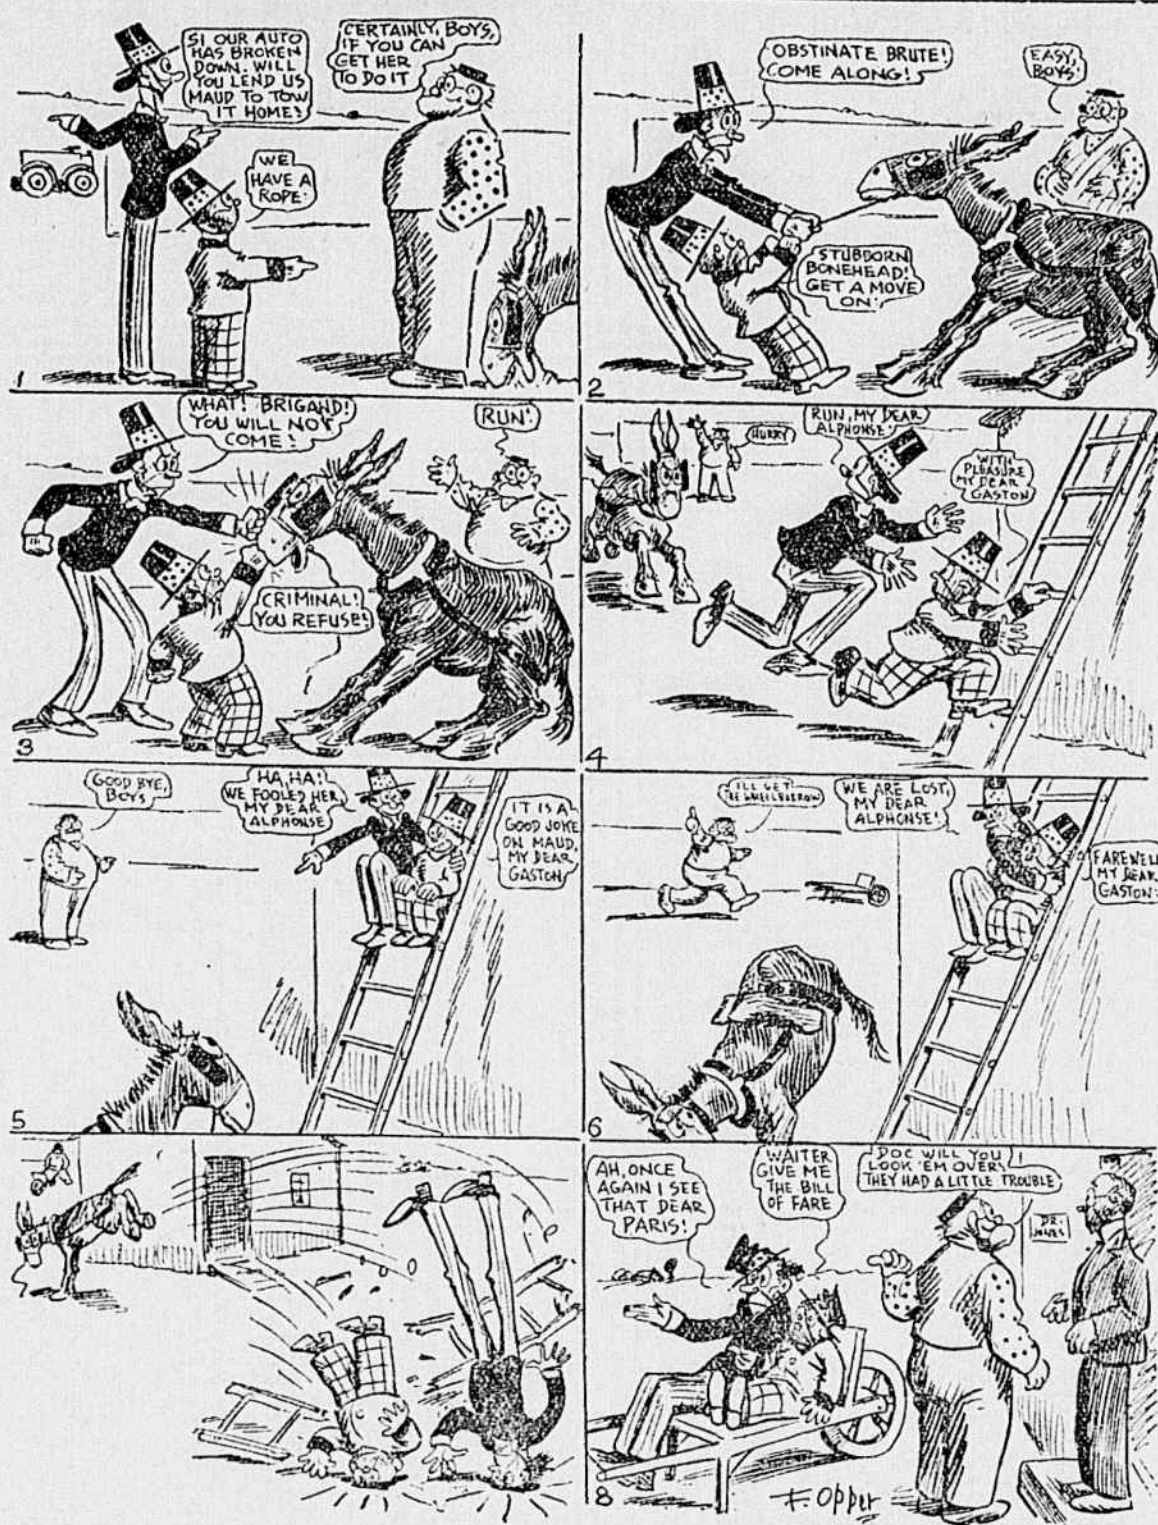

The Emperor retired and took a bath of purification, wearing a bathing vestment of hemp. He was then garbed in a sacred costume of pure white silk without figure or design. Again purifying his hands, he took a baton from a chamberlain, and gave the signal for the procession to the Yuki shrine, to which the heavenly deities had been previously summoned.

Meantime, the Japanese dignitaries who had assembled in the waiting hall were escorted to a pavilion built outside the main gate to the south of the shrines. As they moved forward, strains of music arose from the imperial cooking hall. This was the ancient song of the rice hullers, played by court musicians on flutes, bells and drums. The sacred rice was being hulled, cleansed and boiled by the ritualists. Besides the rice other food was being prepared—sake, ear-shell soup, sea-weed soup, sacred cake and other things. This preparation, ritualists proceeded to the two shrines, carrying food offerings from the Yuki and Suki shrines, consisting of dried sea slug, dried cuttle fish, salmon, ear shell, edible sea weed, chestnuts, dried prawns, pears, bean rice cakes and other things. They also carried a stick of white wood, a jug, a knife box, a towel box, a chop-stick box and sake cups of unglazed earthenware.

EMPEROR ARRIVES FROM BATHING HALL

Then the chief ritualist proceeded to the Yuki shrine and offered a Shinto prayer before the altar, announcing to the spirits of the deities of heaven that the Emperor would personally offer the sacred food. The Emperor, dressed in Shinto ceremonial costume,

AMERICAN TERRITORY VIOLATED BY CRUISER

British Warship Said to Have Come Within Three-Mile Limit in Pursuit of Vessel.

FORMAL PROTEST IS MADE
Confirmation of Charge May Lead to Serious Situation Between This Country and Great Britain—Blockade of Coast Considered 'Offensive.'

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
NEW YORK, November 14.—A British warship, the Wendell, violated American territory, it is charged. One hundred miles south of New York, an unnamed cruiser flying the Union Jack approached within the three-mile limit. At the time the Wendell was in pursuit of the Danish steamship Vinland, master of the Vinland, made the charge against the ship to-day. The Federal government will be asked to investigate the protest, already been forwarded to the Danish government.

"To the best of my judgment," said Captain Moller to-day, "the cruiser came well within the three-mile limit. For more than a week I kept a ship not more than a mile and a half from shore. During all that time the cruiser was close up to me. My judgment is that during a large part of the time the cruiser was less than two miles off shore. Certainly we were always clearly in sight of land. I only escaped by running the Vinland through Cape May Sound, where the cruiser did not dare follow me."

PURSUIT OF VESSEL LASTS THROUGHOUT DAY

The pursuit of the Vinland lasted all day Wednesday. Eluding the British ship in the fog, Captain Moller dropped anchor near Lewis, Del., on Wednesday night. All through the night the cruiser's searchlight played off shore in an effort to locate its prey. Friday morning, under cover of another fog, the Vinland crept out and made for Norfolk before the British located her. Immediately upon his arrival at Norfolk yesterday, Captain Moller bearded a train for New York.

In the presence of Hans Lebrandtson, representative of the Danish owners in New York, he told of the violation of the three-mile limit.

Confirmation of this serious charge may bring about a grave situation between Great Britain and the United States. Three miles directly off shore are peculiarly a neutral haven. In international law this space is as much a part of the United States as Chicago. International lawyers declared to-night that a violation of the three-mile limit is a direct international affront.

In point of fact, the British pursuit of the Vinland of itself may bring interesting possibilities. It was reported on Saturday as an American ship, the Vinland is of Danish register. She is owned by the Vinland Steamship Company, Copenhagen. She was flying the Danish flag when overtaken by the British cruiser. An aggravating circumstance is the fact that, when the cruiser came within hailing distance of the ship, the Vinland broke out the Danish flag from her after mast and the Britisher returned the salute by dipping the Union Jack.

PROTEST IS CABLED TO COPENHAGEN OWNERS

Captain Moller to-night cabled the following protest to Copenhagen: "On November 14, 1915, the Vinland Steamship Company, Copenhagen: "Vinland, on voyage, New York-Norfolk, was ordered to stop, although within the three-mile limit, by British warship. I did not comply, but saluted British. Judging their attitude, British intended to seize ship like recent seizure of the Yamacraw. As neutrals supposed to be subject to such treatment, I am government protest and guarantee safe passage for intended voyage to South America. Awaiting your instructions."

Mystery Involves the Purpose of the Ship

Mystery involves the purpose of the ship. The pursuit of the ship, she was not named among the forty-eight vessels recently blacklisted by the British following their order in council. A clue to the affair, however, may be found in the fact that Y. H. Graham, who has chartered the Vinland, is a listed ship of the American Transatlantic Company, cleared the Vinland from New York as agents for the Danish owners. Mr. Isbrandtsen, Copenhagen, from her after mast, is now connected with the American Transatlantic.

PRACTICE OF CRUISE MAY LEAD TO PROTEST

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
WASHINGTON, November 14.—The practice of British cruisers lying off ports of the United States and stopping Danish, American and other foreign vessels, according to a protest to Great Britain, according to authoritative information obtained to-night.

It was learned that State Department officials are displeased by the activities of the British cruisers, as manifested in several recent instances. Principal among these was the seizure of the Yamacraw, the American steamship, and the Vinland, the Danish steamship, in the vicinity of Cape May, the pursuit of the American-owned steamship Vinland off Norfolk, on the border of three-mile limit. This is now being investigated.

BLOCKADE OF PORTS CONSIDERED OFFENSIVE

The blockade of American ports by British cruisers has already been characterized by President Wilson as "offensive and unjust." In answer to the complaint that the British warships are permitted to be off American ports and intercept neutral vessels, Secretary of State Bryan wrote the following to Senator Stone, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, on January 20, 1915:

"The complaint is unjustified from the fact that representations were made to the British government that the presence of war vessels in the vicinity of New York harbor was offensive to this government and a similar complaint was made to the Japanese government by one of its consuls in the vicinity of Honolulu. In both cases the warships were withdrawn.

It will be recalled that in 1862 the department took the position that capturing neutral ports would not be regarded as valid. In the Franco-Prussian war, President Grant issued a proclamation warning belligerent warships against hovering for purposes of observation or hostile acts.

POLICY IS MAINTAINED IN PRESENT CONFLICT

"The same policy has been maintained in the present war, and in the recent proclamations of neutrality the President states that such practice by belligerent warships is 'unfriendly and offensive.'"

Austrians Drop Bombs on Verona

Thirty Persons Killed, Thirty Others Seriously Injured and Nineteen Slightly Hurt.

ROME, November 14 (via Paris).—Thirty persons are dead in Verona as a result of three Austrian aeroplanes dropping bombs on the city. Thirty other persons were seriously and nineteen slightly injured. Nineteen persons were killed by one bomb. The aeroplanes visited various parts of the city, but none of the missiles dropped by them fell near the military buildings.

This is the second time Austro-Hungarian aeroplanes have made a raid on the fortified city of Verona. Last July an Austrian machine dropped about a dozen bombs on the city, and then escaped notwithstanding the fire of forts defending the city.

Verona, next to Venice, is the most important town of the Italian compartment of Venetia, and is decorated by its striking medieval palaces.

proclaim that any frequenting and use of the waters within the territorial jurisdiction of the belligerent states by the armed vessels of a belligerent, whether public ships or privateers, for the furthering of hostile operations, as posts of observation upon the ships of the other party, or as bases of operations of a belligerent lying within or being about to enter the jurisdiction of the United States, must be regarded as unfriendly and offensive, and in violation of that neutrality which it is the determination of this government to observe."

The first offense of the British government was the seizure of the Yamacraw, which lay off New York and received supplies. The matter was taken up with the British embassy and it was announced that the British government would be withdrawn.

PROTEST WILL DEPEND ON REPORT OF CONSUL

Whether the United States will protest to Great Britain on the searching of the American ship, the Yamacraw, by a crew from a British warship will depend upon the report of Consul J. W. Gorman, at Progress, Yucatan. The consul, on his last night, ordered Gorman to learn definitely whether the Yamacraw was de facto within or outside of the three-mile limit of Progress harbor.

If the consul's report says that the search took place within the three-mile limit, State Department officials indicated that a vigorous protest will be made. If the report is to the contrary, it is considered likely that an apology would be demanded with a pledge that the offense will not be repeated. Officials declared that overhauling an American vessel within Mexican territorial waters constitutes a flagrant violation of international law.

It was decided to abide by Consul Gorman's report, because conflicting statements from the captain of the Yamacraw and the commander of the British warship raised a direct issue of fact. The British commander informed the American consul that the Yamacraw was within the three-mile limit, which declared that the ship was overhauled while in Progress harbor.

WILL REQUEST SAFETY FOR STEAMER WINNEBAGO

The request of the State Department that Great Britain permit the American steamship Winnebago to proceed unmolested from Buenos Aires to New York and vessels will be called to London to-morrow.

This is the result of the appeals to the State Department by President Wagner, of the American Transatlantic Company, and a guarantee of safety by the United States government that the ships of his company, under American registry, should not be molested by belligerent warships.

Immunized, decided to inform Great Britain that the American registry of the Winnebago was not open to serious challenge, and that she is entitled to free passage.

Officials say that the Winnebago is a test case, and that upon Great Britain's reply to this government's request will depend the action of the department with reference to all the other vessels of the American Transatlantic Company.

IF GREAT BRITAIN SHOULD DECLINE TO ACCED TO THE REQUEST AND SEIZE THE WINNEBAGO, IT IS PROBABLE THIS GOVERNMENT WILL DEMAND HER RELEASE.

CASE OF THE WINNEBAGO NOT LIKE THAT OF HOCKING

Officials said to-night that the case of the Winnebago is differentiated from that of the Hocking, of the same company, because the statements of President Wagner and the unassailable affidavits which he sent to the State Department proving the Winnebago to be absolutely American-owned, are not specifically applicable to the Hocking. The Hocking was seized and taken into the prize court at Halifax before the proofs asked of President Wagner by the State Department in the Hocking case, therefore, the department still holds that the only remedy in sight is that the British government should release the Hocking, and if it is not sufficient to show that the seizure of the vessel was warranted, to demand its release. The State Department says that as this government has decided not to recognize prize courts, except where cases before them are based on international law, and not on orders in council, a demand for the release of the Hocking would be amply justified.

WANTED BOTTLE OF BEER

William Parker was walking down one of the downtown streets yesterday when a negro woman approached and asked him if he would like a cool bottle of beer. Parker admitted that he could use a drink, and the woman gave him a bottle so much that he was willing to give the woman a $10 bill with which to secure it. The woman disappeared and failed to return, whereupon Parker reported his loss to the police.

THANKSGIVING DAY COMING SOON

Prince Says Every One May Eat All They Want of the Goodies They Wish.

Some Have Celebrated Already and Given Thanks for Blessing Brought.

The testimonial of one after another from a single business office, from a friend, then the friend's friend, is the story of Tanlac's success. It is an endless chain gaining added momentum as it goes; ever faster, faster, come the glowing tributes from those who have been benefited by the new preparation, and as they tell their friends of the results they gained from the use of Tanlac, so the list of users grows until it encompasses the world. "So it shall," says L. T. Cooper. "Until every one in Virginia who suffers from stomach, kidney and kindred troubles shall have tried it and his or her condition bettered," says the genial representative of Tanlac. "I have found ways to be found at the Main Street store of Polk Miller explaining Tanlac."

Thanksgiving Day will soon be here, he makes a right here in Virginia. He has given thanks for the regular season and been relieved of troubles long standing. Here is one: Raymond Arnold, an officer on the Norfolk police force, and a member of the department, also of the department. They both praised Tanlac to the skies and joined with several others of the force, who had tried it, in giving their testimonial. "I have suffered from stomach trouble. When I ate even a light meal my stomach would swell and food felt like a lead in my stomach. I actually dreaded to eat any food, and when I pressed against it, I noticed Tanlac bottles in the papers and bought a bottle. After using Tanlac for a while I wanted to tell the world about it.
